

How to Participate

All individuals, towns, associations, and other entities who sign the Live Peace Charter are encouraged to organize musical events or live performances in their local communities and to:

1. Host a Live Peace dinner with friends, enjoying music and sharing pictures using #LivePeace and #WeWantPeace.
 2. Label existing musical events in bars, restaurants, hotels, or nightclubs as "Live Peace" evenings.
 3. Arrange a Live Peace Concert featuring a professional band.
 4. Project the Live Peace logo onto public buildings on 21 September.
 5. Encourage primary school children to draw artwork inspired by peace.
 6. Organize community gatherings, such as street performances or citizen picnics for peace.
 7. Invite local restaurants, bars, hotels and nightclubs to host special Live Peace evenings, featuring music, DJs, or live bands.
 8. Host a "Live Peace Aperitif" or an evening at home with friends, filled with music, dancing, laughter, and moments of joy. Share videos and photos online to spread the message.
 9. Encourage residents to place peace-themed lanterns in their windows as a sign of solidarity and hope.
 10. Submit videos and photos of local events for Live Peace's social media platforms to inspire others around the world.

Additional Actions to Amplify Live Peace

Here are further ideas for citizens, cities, hotels, and restaurants to celebrate Live Peace:

For Citizens

- Organize neighborhood peace walks, featuring live music performances by local artists.
- Create and share short videos or personal messages about peace on social media using the official hashtags.
- Form small community choirs to sing peace songs in public spaces like parks or markets.

For Cities and Towns

- Illuminate public monuments or landmarks with peace-themed lighting (e.g., in white, blue, or rainbow hues).
- Dedicate a portion of the day to peace-themed workshops, like yoga, meditation, or discussions on conflict resolution.
- Launch a public art project (e.g., murals, sculptures) reflecting the theme of peace.

For Hotels and Restaurants

- Design a special "Live Peace" menu, with dishes named after symbols of peace (e.g., "Harmony Salad," "Unity Cocktail").
- Offer live acoustic performances or invite local musicians to entertain guests with peace-themed music.
- Provide discounts or free items to patrons who wear white (a color often associated with peace).

For Schools and Children

- Host storytelling sessions about peace leaders and their contributions to the world.
- Organize a "Peace Parade" where children wear costumes symbolizing unity and diversity.
- Create a "Wall of Peace" where students write or draw their wishes for a peaceful world.

For the Broader Community

- Create a "Live Peace Zone" in a public area where anyone can come to reflect, enjoy music, and engage in peaceful activities.
- Organize a symbolic release of white balloons or doves to mark the end of the day's events.
- Partner with local businesses to distribute small peace-themed giveaways (pins, stickers, etc.).

These suggestions aim to foster inclusivity, creativity, and collaboration, ensuring Live Peace becomes a globally recognized event for celebrating peace through music and unity.
